ROSS, HIGGINS & Co.

THE LEADING GROCERS.

TERSE TALES OF THE TOWN

Funeral Services Held.—Services over the remains of Mrs. M. A. Oxford were conducted from Pohl's undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon, and interment was at Greenwood.

And Still Another.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Jaloff are happy in the arrival at their home yesterday, of a handsome, healthy baby daughter.

Fraternal Contest.—On the 24th of the present month, after the regular session of Astoria lodge, Knights of Pythias, a friendly contest will be held, as between two teams in the Third rank, headed, respectively, by T. B. Loughery, Chancellor Commander of the order, and Herman Wise, in drill work, the losing team to pay for the banquet that is to follow the work. A number of visiting knights will be here from Portland and other points.

Stole a march.—About a dozen young people, good friends of Miss Ida Linenweber, the popular cashier for Ross, Higgins & Co., surprised that young lady on Tuesday evening by calling so simultaneously as to reveal a conspiracy. She had intended having them in tonight in a social way, but they couldn't wait, and went forty-eight hours in advance. The result was just as delightful, their welcome just as cordial, and the surprise a genuine success. A happy evening was spent in which music, cards, and a delicate lunch were conspicuous features, and all hands, the hostess included, voted the surprise an improvement on the stated invitation affair.

SAVORY ROASTER. SEAMLESS.

The great feature of the SAVORY ROASTER, which no other roaster has, is the OVAL BOTTOM. With the ordinary roaster the moisture brought out of the meat by cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the OVAL BOTTOM this meat juice flows continually to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is vaporized by the heat and again deposited upon the surface of the meat. Thus, while water is required in the Flat Bottom Roaster to supply it, this moisture comes from the meat's own juices. No basting is necessary. No attention of any kind. The inside is perfectly smooth and seamless, and has no crevices or corners to collect burnt grease or particles of meat. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside jacket, insuring a uniform heat on all sides.

NO RUSH IS NOTICABLE

Routine Business Mostly—No Activity in the Marriage Market—Real Estate Transfers Few—Not and Comment About the Building.

County Judge C. J. Trenchard, sitting for Probate yesterday, made the following orders:

In the matter of the estate of Benj. G. Aundstad, deceased, the time was set for hearing and reviewing the final report of the executor, upon Tuesday, December 26, 1905.

The fifty-eight rooms in the handsome structure have been separately overhauled, cleaned, and newly carpeted; the furniture has been completely restored and lacquered and the whole establishment will be renovated in such fashion that by the hour of opening, it will be practically a brand new house, and its beautiful and central site will make it instantly popular for the transient and visiting traveler.

A handsome bus will meet all trains and steamers and the Irving will be a popular bidder for the hotel patronage of the port. The management will be of the best that experience and means can afford and nothing will be left undone for the comfort and convenience of the guests. A brilliant and conspicuous electric-lighted sign will adorn the roof at night.
